My Dear Morgan,
Your letter came to hand. This day week will be Christmas day. God in his mercy and goodness may spare us to enjoy it. Man's life may be compared "unto a weaver's shuttle." Mark that! A weaver's shuttle? What a thing that is thrown backwards and forwards until the web is ———. Oh what a comparison! Yet we live. The meanest etched murderer just clings to it the eternal repentance he leans deeply on tant to quit this ties and vices! upon attack us to The canopy above streaks of light is on its arched sur- moon - the darling to bloom & wither in a day - the vras - the busy bee - the trees and fields - the streamlet - the

My Dear Henry,

I recd your letter this morning. I meant to call out - got wasted my time looking about to find Scott who was knocking about with his relatives in Hull. You are mistaken as to our having money "in our hands". We had a certain sum once in this way, but at present we have none. We still need money; but in this way. We get an application for a loan & submit the application to some of money on the security, circumstances the title & pass id over by power, deducting little change of these parties mortgage, & rates of interest the land above buildings.
